

THE MILITARY ISSUE

PART TWO

What is the basis for the American prejudice against being ruled by professional soldiers?

It goes deep into history. Contact with the "press gangs" of British history, experience with the red-coats who were virtually an "army of occupation" during part of the colonial era, the bitter resentments of many generations of immigrants with the universal military training programs of Europe—all these played a part.

The biggest single event which resulted in spelling out, in the Constitution, the supremacy of civilian control over that of the military, was undoubtedly that of the Wyoming Massacre, the Indian and British sneak-attack near Wilkes-Barre, which civilian thinking of that period blamed upon the military insistence on bleeding out of the Wyoming settlement all of the home-guards who might have defended it, a policy insisted upon despite widespread protests.

What the American people have feared, for the better part of two centuries, may be expressed as the rising here of a new Bismarck, who might do to this nation what the junkers did to Germany—dedicate the people and the economy to war-preparations, leading unflinchingly to the making of war, and, in the case of Germany, eventually to the demoralization and destruction of what otherwise might have continued to be one of the most enlightened and advanced nations of the world.

For several years the power of the military branch has been on the ascendancy in this country.

For the first time, five years ago, a professional soldier—General Marshall—was made secretary of State during a period of great diplomatic tension.

Again for the first time, the American military clique, in the case of the Pearl Harbor scandal, was able not only to block an investigation into a military fiasco by the people's representatives, Congress, but able even to sew up and destroy a military investigation and report on that disgraceful affair which told the full story, named names, and traced the responsibility.

And again for the first time, in several recent elections—going back to the 1944 campaign—military figures have been largely decisive in the outcome; General Marshall's silencing of Governor Dewey in 1944 re-elected Roosevelt; the vast military expenditures in Europe was one of the factors which "bought" the farm vote in 1948 and defeated the Republicans.

Factors of this type, and this sort of considerations, have nothing at all to do with the personality of General Eisenhower. They are no reflection on him. It is not that the long career he has enjoyed has been in any way reprehensible, but that it has excluded from his experience the whole subject and concepts of free government, of free cooperation of liberty-loving individuals, of construction as contrasted with destruction, of persuasion as opposed to commands.

At another period in history, the issue might not be so critical. It made, for example, precious little difference to the 1870's whether the president at that time was an ex-soldier or not—and for that matter, it made very little difference in the long run, during that hectic time of vast growth and expansion, whether political favorites did or didn't misappropriate public funds.

But today all nations tremble in the balance between freedom and collectivism. The issue of whether the people are to run the government, or the government to run the people, is the greatest issue of the generation.

And at a time when the Supreme Court has so recently vindicated the concepts of Republicanism, of popular sovereignty, of the separation of powers, for the people unwittingly to reverse the trend, and move far in the direction of military supremacy through the election of a president whose sole public experience has been in the field of war—that might prove to be the step which takes this nation irrevocably across the line into a military-operated police-state despotism.

Graphic Description of Spain Given Rotarians

A graphic description of his trip to Spain, the Balearic Island of Majorca, and Tangier, was given, Thursday, to Bristol Rotarians by Hugh B. Eastburn, who recently returned.

Spain for the last two or three years has been heavily traveled by foreigners, after being sealed off since their civil war. It still retains its picturesque and glamor in the eyes of the world, Mr. Eastburn stated.

The railroads are old and dilapidated. Therefore recourse is taken to air travel. The taxis are a sight to be seen, he stated. The cars are of a vintage that the average American never heard of. Very few are of modern make.

The history of Spain dates back to ancient times. The Moors occupied it for about 800 years and during that time denuded the forests. Reforestation, however, has now begun.

He informed that agriculture is very good, though the cultivation is done in a most primitive manner. Not a piece of modern machinery can be seen anywhere. The growing of olives and grapes predominates.

All business stops from one till four o'clock for siesta time. Dinner time is between 9 and 12 p. m. Living and hotel accommodations are most reasonable.

Mr. Eastburn gave his impression of the bull fights. The game of soccer is becoming very popular and may ultimately displace bull fights, in the speaker's opinion.

ARREST SUSPECT IN FIVE ROBBERIES AT MORRISVILLE

Charles Louis Hale Trenton, Taken Into Custody As Suspect

SAID TO ADMIT CRIMES

Trenton Police Claim Man In Custody Has Record

MORRISVILLE, June 7 — Taken into custody as a suspicious character, a man identified as Charles Louis Hale, 44, Willow st., Trenton, N. J., is being held as a suspect in a number of robberies here during the past few days.

Hale was arrested yesterday afternoon near the Calhoun street bridge by Officer Harry Tomlinson. Police say Hale admits robbing five homes here early last Wednesday and 24 homes in Trenton during the last two weeks.

Police Chief John S. Davis, said Hale, had been released last March from New Jersey State Prison, Trenton, after serving the minimum of a 12-to-48-year term for burglary, and was under parole.

Trenton police announced they would file a detainer to insure Hale's appearance in their city after he faces charges in Morrisville.

Patrolman Tomlinson, reported the suspect told him while being taken to Morrisville police headquarters he had "started to rob" a

ACQUIT HERSHEY OF MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Judge Says Verdict "Discriminating;" Girl Died Of Injuries

LINCOLN HWY. CRASH

DOYLESTOWN, June 7 — A Quarter Sessions criminal court jury on Thursday acquitted a Humesville motorist, John S. Hershey, of involuntary manslaughter and placed costs of prosecution on the county.

Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite, who presided at the two-day trial, said the verdict was a discriminating one and described the defendant as "being lucky and fortunate that he didn't have to pay the costs of prosecution."

Chief of Police Franklin Kirby, Falls twp., who investigated the case, testified the defendant's car ran into the rear of a parked truck on the highway in Falls twp., March 12.

Ruth Hall, a passenger in the defendant's car, died March 14th, from injuries.

The defendant testified the tragedy happened about six o'clock in the evening, the sun shone in his eyes and that he didn't see the truck, which had broken down and was parked on the highway, until it was too late.

Prevention of Cancer Is Discussed Before WSCS

Dr. Emanuel P. Farber, Bristol obstetrician and gynecologist, was the speaker at a meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service in Harriman Methodist Sunday School building Wednesday evening.

In his talk on "Prevention of Cancer in Women", Dr. Farber developed four principal points: 1. Cancer can be cured if diagnosed early; 2. cancer control is primarily an individual responsibility, it is up to the individual to seek competent physicians for regular cancer checkups; 3. the high mortality rate in cancer is due primarily to delay in obtaining early diagnosis and prompt and adequate treatment; 4. Avoid self medication, quacks, superstition, and advertisement of quack cures.

Dr. Farber recommended that everyone should learn the seven danger signals of cancer.

Preceding the address, three interesting sound films were shown, including one in color on breast self examination. This film shows how any woman can learn to examine her own breast for symptoms of cancer. Dr. Farber asked for questions from the audience and a discussion followed.

The police reported extensive damage to the car in both front and rear, with slight damage to the culvert and Mr. Snyder's lawn. Bowker was not injured. The accident was investigated by police officers McCahn and Kaulow.

PROFITABLE DAY IS SPENT AT "CROSSING"

Clubwomen of Bucks County Learn of Preserve's Past, Plans For Future

SEE FAMOUS PAINTING

WASHINGTON CROSSING, June 7 — A day at Washington Crossing Park proved a profitable one yesterday for a number of members of Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Divided into two programs, morning and afternoon, the latter was "sub-divided" to present "The Past, Present and Future of Bowman's Hill and the Wild Flower Preserve."

The club group watched as the ghost of Bowman's Hill flitted across the front of the pavilion where the afternoon session took place; and watched as Capt. Kidd made off with the treasure with "Doc" Bowman in pursuit. Later two speakers told of the wild flower preserve as it is today, and what the future may have in store.

Mrs. Karl H. Tomb, Bristol, former conservation and garden chairman of the federation, introduced the various speakers. During the morning, as the group assembled in Washington Crossing Methodist Church, where the painting of "Washington Crossing the Delaware" is on display, Mrs. Ann Hawkes Hutton, Edgely, a member of Washington Crossing Park Commission, told interesting details about the Leutze painting.

Box lunches were partaken of in the pavilion.

"Opening Night" Is Gala Event At The Playhouse

NEW HOPE, June 7 — Opening night at Bucks County Playhouse, here, last evening attracted celebrities and theatre-goers from a wide area, the vehicle "Lady in the Dark", starring Kitty Carlisle, musical hit by Moss Hart, husband of Miss Carlisle.

An innovation for this play is the fact that it will run for 2½ weeks. Miss Carlisle and her supporting cast received a fine ovation as the sensational play unfolded. Costumes were outstanding; and staging, lighting effects, and piano music were well blended to make a thoroughly enjoyable evening at the theatre by the Delaware.

A crowded house for the premiere attracted notables from New York, Philadelphia, all parts of Bucks County, and other points along the eastern seaboard.

Using a pattern of dream sequences, each scene left the audience eagerly awaiting the next setting. Miss Carlisle capably handled the role which called on her talents not only as a dramatic actress, but as singer as well.

LANGHORNE, June 7 — Members of the Neshaminy Joint School Board, the Lower Bucks County School Authority and the architects expressed a great deal of satisfaction at the prices quoted at last night's bid opening for the new Neshaminy high school, held last evening at Neshaminy High School. The base bids for complete construction totaled $1,594,354. President of the school directors John E. Paul stated that he was very happy that the school could be built without any reductions in the original plans.

Twenty-five base bids in five classifications were received. The Authority headed by John Wood, voted to accept the two lowest bids in each category. It is expected that the construction contracts will be awarded at next Thursday's meeting of the Authority.

The two low bids in each classification for General Construction: Costanza Contracting Co., Merchantville, N. J., $1,011,900; Charles F. Rohleder, Phila., $1,024,660; Heating construction, American Sanitary Sales and Service, Phila., $186,999 and Edward F. These figures total approximately $1,980,000, which is under the $2,000,000 plus that the building was expected to cost.

The new school, designed by the architectural firm of Berninger, Haag and d'Entremont, is expected to be ready by September of 1953. It is designed for 900 junior and senior high school students and will contain a full size auditorium and a dual gymnasium. Equipment will be of the finest grade it was stated.

LESSON IN A PRANK

The case of the 25 Cornell University students who seized the
college radio station and broadcast false bulletins has been handled with dispatch. All have been suspended for one year. Voluntarily, they joined in issuing a
public apology.

Citizens of the Middle Atlantic states, who remember the fabulous "invasion" by Martians
some years ago can testify that
the misuse of radio can have some frightening consequences. The Orson Welles broadcast, which
told in news bulletin style of the landing of invaders from Mars on
the tidal marshes of New Jersey,
caused pandemonium.

The Cornell radio station at Ithaca, N. Y., is, fortunately, practically a closed circuit. The broadcasts are audible only within
the immediate neighborhood of the campus. The students, as a prank, took over the station, by overpowering the staff, and broadcast fake news bulletins telling of the bombing of European cities
and of an air armada heading for this country. There was considerable hysteria in the women's
dormitories, according to report.

This "prank" could have had
the most serious sort of consequences if the station range had been greater. In a way, though, it may serve a useful purpose in
drawing attention to lack of security provisions in the hundreds of
broadcasting stations throughout
the country.

In the Cornell case the punishment is not too severe for the crime. The students have learned the hard way that the dissemination of news does not lend itself
to pranks.

ESCAPIST ACTIVITY

Probably the ancestors of this
generation never thought of gardening as an escapist activity,
which is the description applied
to it by a modern writer. All they knew was that if they wanted vegetables or flowers—usually the former—they had to get out and
dig.

But that is an intriguing
thought, that people go in for
gardening—those who have gardens, that is—to get their minds
off problems of the day, personal
as well as national and international.

There is something soothing
about digging and planting, weeding and spraying and harvesting
—activities which usually are engaged in in the hot sun—and conducive to a feeling of well being.

It is difficult to take too pessimistic a view of the future when laboring in a flower or vegetable garden. Growing plants, the evidence of accomplishment, though
it may not hold the promise of
fulfillment of roseate anticipation,
are not conducive to feelings of
despair or frustration.

And when the day's or evening's task in the garden is done,
sleep comes easily to the toiler
who probably didn't know that he was engaged in an escapist
activity.

MORRISVILLE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP OF LOWER BUCKS JUNIOR HIGH LEAGUE BY DEFEATING DELHAAS, 3 TO 1

FALLSINGTON, June 7 — Morrisville won the 1952 baseball championship of the Lower Bucks County Junior High League by winning over Delhaas Junior High, 3-1, in an extra inning game on the neutral Fallsington High field. The two teams had ended the regular season in a deadlock for first place.

Morrisville won the game by scoring twice in the eighth frame. With the bags loaded, Bob White walked Pacitto to force in Brewer with a run. On an attempted "squeeze" play, White threw out Powell at the plate. Jones' throw to first was on time but no one covered the bag, enabling Garman to score.

AUTO BOYS HANDS FIFTH WARD A 12 TO 5 LACING

The Auto Boys nine handed the league-leading Fifth Ward Sporting Club a 12-5 lacing last evening in a Bristol Softball League tilt on Memorial field.

The Auto Boys players had their hitting caps on as they smacked out a total of 14 safe blows. Harold Peltz paced the hitting attack with a home run and three singles in four trips to the plate. Steve Clouti helped along with a triple and two singles in four times up.

The Mill Streeters scored nine runs in the first two frames, sending Pete Mancini to the showers early. Mancini failed to retire a batter, the first seven players reaching base safely.

Nick Lomma was the winning twirler. He allowed four hits, one of which was a long blow between right and center by John Cordisco for an easy home run. Lomma's wildness in the third gave the Warders four runs as he passed four batters in succession and then was tapped for a hit by Joe Pica.

by revealing "the past", Mrs. John B. Force, former president and now secretary of Yardley Club, read the poem "The Ghost of Bowman's Hill", written by Miss Catherine Welsh, of Washington Crossing. As the poem unfolded the ghost (impersonated by Miss Welsh), appeared; then Capt. Kidd (William Kirkbride, of this community), and "Doc" Bowman, impersonated by John B. Force, Yardley.

The "present" as regards Bowman's Hill was presented by Norman Fisher, park botanist. He referred to the remarkable attendance this season, with a conservative estimate of 15,000 visitors in May. The types of visitors were shown in the listing of students from primary grades up through college years; Scouts, club, church and civic groups, and families.

The trips on the educational and other trails in the wild flower preserve may help many young folks to develop into amateur botanists. The plan developed to place information folders at entrances to the various trails was told of — "We try to make the trails intelligible without marking to the extent of marring the beauty." Mrs. Ross added that an attempt is being made to keep maintenance at a minimum. She made a plea for a sponsor group for every section of the wild flower preserve. "We need women to visit your trail at least once a month to do a little weeding. We feel we have treasures much more valuable on Bowman's Hill than the Spanish gold supposedly buried there."

Mrs. William Lynch, Davisville, president of the federation, announced the appointment of Mrs. William Loughrey, as new garden chairman. Mrs. Loughrey also succeeds Mrs. Tomb in the Bowman's Hill activity.

Recent visitors of Mrs. Hannah Hartman were Mrs. Charles Hartman, Morrisville; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hartman and children, Vincentown, N. J.; Mrs. William Hartman, Trenton, N. J.

Mrs. Russell Rymer returned from Atlanta, Ga., where she visited her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rymer.

Mrs. Florence Hill, Brownsville, is making her home with Miss Emma Moon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Buckalew on Friday attended the 30th reunion of the 38th Infantry of Third Division at New York, N. Y., and visited Mr. and Mrs. Louis Duranti in that city.

Falls Township Fire Co. Auxiliary members will hold a meeting, Tuesday at eight p. m., in the fire station.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Buck and daughters Laura and Carolyn, Flemington, N. J., were Monday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. William Lobecker. Mrs. Lillian Battersby, Philadelphia, is spending this week with the Lobeckers.

huge 'bull-frogs, cray-fish, salamanders and the like' he advised.

The "future" of Bowman's Hill was the category assigned to Mrs. A. B. Ross, former state chairman of conservation and now co-chairman of the executive committee of the preserve. The decision to sponsor the wild flower trail was mentioned as Mrs. Ross recalled the work of the early days and the handicaps overcome. Using funds of $100 from the Council for Preservation of Natural Beauty in Penna., and adding every donation to it gleaned from the various women's clubs, the types of flowers on the trail were increased. Mrs. Ross told. All work in the early days was by W. P. A. labor, the club women supervising. "We sometimes wonder why you ever kept faith with us. Now we have a national reputation." She proceeded to tell how seeds are sent to Oslo, and plants to Edinboro. "The preserve has served as a model for other preserves. The wild flower preserve is becoming more and more a clearing house for information." That many pupils are taken to the park to study botany, was mentioned. "The preserve is rapidly becoming the museum of out-door work."

The plan developed to place information folders at entrances to the various trails was told of — "We try to make the trails intelligible without marking to the extent of marring the beauty." Mrs. Ross added that an attempt is being made to keep maintenance at a minimum. She made a plea for a sponsor group for every section of the wild flower preserve. ## THE MILITARY ISSUE

What is the basis for the American prejudice against being ruled by professional soldiers?

It goes deep into history. Contact with the "press gangs" of British history, experience with the red-coats who were virtually an "army of occupation" during part of the colonial era, the bitter resentments of many generations of immigrants with the universal military training programs of Europe—all these played a part.

The biggest single event which resulted in spelling out, in the Constitution, the supremacy of civilian control over that of the military, was undoubtedly that of the Wyoming Massacre, the Indian and British sneak-attack near Wilkes-Barre, which civilian thinking of that period blamed upon the military insistence on bleeding out of the Wyoming settlement all of the home-guards who might have defended it, a policy insisted upon despite widespread protests.

What the American people have feared, for the better part of two centuries, may be expressed as the rising here of a new Bismarck, who might do to this nation what the junkers did to Germany—dedicate the people and the economy to war-preparations, leading unflinchingly to the making of war, and, in the case of Germany, eventually to the demoralization and destruction of what otherwise might have continued to be one of the most enlightened and advanced nations of the world.

For several years the power of the military branch has been on the ascendancy in this country.

For the first time, five years ago, a professional soldier—General Marshall—was made secretary of State during a period of great diplomatic tension.

Again for the first time, the American military clique, in the case of the Pearl Harbor scandal, was able not only to block an investigation into a military fiasco by the people's representatives, Congress, but able even to sew up and destroy a military investigation and report on that disgraceful affair which told the full story, named names, and traced the responsibility.

And again for the first time, in several recent elections—going back to the 1944 campaign—military figures have been largely decisive in the outcome; General Marshall's silencing of Governor Dewey in 1944 re-elected Roosevelt; the vast military expenditures in Europe was one of the factors which "bought" the farm vote in 1948 and defeated the Republicans.

Factors of this type, and this sort of considerations, have nothing at all to do with the personality of General Eisenhower.

They are no reflection on him. It is not that the long career he has enjoyed has been in any way reprehensible, but that it has excluded from his experience the whole subject and concepts of free government, of free cooperation of liberty-loving individuals, of construction as contrasted with destruction, of persuasion as opposed to commands.

At another period in history, the issue might not be so critical. It made, for example, precious little difference to the 1870's whether the president at that time was an ex-soldier or not—and for that matter, it made very little difference in the long run, during that hectic time of vast growth and expansion, whether political favorites did or didn't misappropriate public funds. But today all nations tremble in the balance between freedom and collectivism. The issue of whether the people are to run the government, or the government to run the people, is the greatest issue of the generation.

And at a time when the Supreme Court has so recently vindicated the concepts of Republicanism, of popular sovereignty, of the separation of powers, for the people unwittingly to reverse the trend, and move far in the direction of military supremacy through the election of a president whose sole public experience has been in the field of war—that might prove to be the step which takes this nation irrevocably across the line into a military-operated police-state despotism.

Graphic Description of Spain Given Rotarians

A graphic description of his trip to Spain, the Balearic Island of Majorca, and Tangier, was given, Thursday, to Bristol Rotarians by Hugh B. Eastburn, who recently returned.

Spain for the last two or three years has been heavily traveled by foreigners, after being sealed off since their civil war. It still retains its picturesqueness and glamor in the eyes of the world, Mr. Eastburn stated.

The railroads are old and dilapidated. Therefore recourse is taken to air travel. The taxis are a sight to be seen, he stated. The cars are of a vintage that the average American never heard of. Very few are of modern make.

The history of Spain dates back to ancient times. The Moors occupied it for about 800 years and during that time denuded the forests. Reforestation, however, has now begun.

He informed that agriculture is very good, though the cultivation is done in a most primitive manner. Not a piece of modern machinery can be seen anywhere. The growing of olives and grapes predominates.

All business stops from one 'til four o'clock for siesta time. Dinner time is between 9 and 12 p. m. Living and hotel accommodations are most reasonable.

Mr. Eastburn gave his impression of the bull fights. The game of soccer is becoming very popular and may ultimately displace bull fights, in the speaker's opinion.

Ruth Hall, a passenger in the defendant's car, died March 14th, from injuries.

The defendant testified the tragedy happened about six o'clock in the evening, the sun shone in his eyes and that he didn't see the truck, which had broken down and was parked on the highway, until it was too late.

Prevention of Cancer is Discussed Before WSCS

Dr. Emanuel P. Farber, Bristol obstetrician and gynecologist, was the speaker at a meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service in Harriman Methodist Sunday School building Wednesday evening.

In his talk on "Prevention of Cancer in Women", Dr. Farber developed four principal points: 1. Cancer can be cured if diagnosed early; 2. cancer control is primarily an individual responsibility, it is up to the individual to seek competent physicians for regular cancer checkups; 3. the high mortality rate in cancer is due primarily to delay in obtaining early diagnosis and prompt and adequate treatment; 4. Avoid self medication, quacks, superstition, and advertisement of quack cures.

Dr. Farber recommended that everyone should learn the seven danger signals of cancer.

Preceding the address, three interesting sound films were shown, including one in color on breast self examination. This film shows how any woman can learn to examine her own breast for symptoms of cancer. Dr. Farber asked for questions from the audience and a discussion followed.

PROFITABLE DAY IS SPENT AT "CROSSING"

Clubwomen of Bucks County Learn of Preserve's Past, Plans For Future

SEE FAMOUS PAINTING

WASHINGTON CROSSING, June 7 — A day at Washington Crossing Park proved a profitable one yesterday for a number of members of Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Divided into two programs, morning and afternoon, the latter was "sub-divided" to present "The Past, Present and Future of Bowman's Hill and the Wild Flower Preserve."

The club group watched as the ghost of Bowman's Hill flitted across the front of the pavilion where the afternoon session took place; and watched as Capt. Kidd made off with the treasure with "Doc" Bowman in pursuit. Later two speakers told of the wild flower preserve as it is today, and what the future may have in store.

Mrs. Earl H. Tomb, Bristol, former conservation and garden chairman of the federation, introduced the various speakers. During the morning, as the group assembled in Washington Crossing Methodist Church, where the painting of "Washington Crossing the Delaware" is on display, Mrs. Ann Hawkes Hutton, Edgely, a member of Washington Crossing Park Commission, told interesting details about the Leutze painting.

Box lunches were partaken of in the pavilion.

"Opening Night" Is Gala Event At The Playhouse

NEW HOPE, June 7 — Opening night at Bucks County Playhouse, here, last evening attracted celebrities and theatre-goers from a wide area, the vehicle "Lady in the Dark", starring Kitty Carlisle, musical hit by Moss Hart, husband of Miss Carlisle.

An innovation for this play is the fact that it will run for 2½ weeks.

Miss Carlisle and her supporting cast received a fine ovation as the sensational play unfolded. Costumes were outstanding; and staging, lighting effects, and piano music were well blended to make a thoroughly enjoyable evening at the theatre by the Delaware.

A crowded house for the premiere attracted notables from New York, Philadelphia, all parts of Bucks County, and other points along the eastern seaboard.

Using a pattern of dream sequences, each scene left the audience eagerly awaiting the next setting. Miss Carlisle capably handled the role which called on her talents not only as a dramatic actress, but as singer as well.

These figures total approximately $1,980,000, which is under the $2,000,000 plus that the building was expected to cost.

The new school, designed by the architectural firm of Berninger, Haag and d'Entremont, is expected to be ready by September of 1953. It is designed for 900 junior and senior high school students and will contain a full size auditorium and a dual gymnasium. Equipment will be of the finest grade it was stated.

The case of the 25 Cornell University students who seized the
college radio station and broadcast false bulletins has been handled with dispatch. All have been
suspended for one year. Voluntarily, they joined in issuing a
public apology.

Citizens of the Middle Atlantic states, who remember the fabulous "invasion" by Martians
some years ago can testify that
the misuse of radio can have some
frightening consequences. The Orson Welles broadcast, which
told in news bulletin style of the
landing of invaders from Mars on
the tidal marshes of New Jersey,
caused pandemonium.

The Cornell radio station at Ithaca, N. Y., is, fortunately,
practically a closed circuit. The
broadcasts are audible only within
the immediate neighborhood of the campus. The students, as a prank, took over the station, by
overpowering the staff, and broadcast fake war bulletins telling of the bombing of European cities
and of an air armada heading for
this country. There was considerable hysteria in the women's
dormitories, according to report.

This "prank" could have had
the most serious sort of consequences if the station range had been greater. In a way, though, it
may serve a useful purpose in
drawing attention to lack of security provisions in the hundreds of
broadcasting stations throughout
the country.

In the Cornell case the punishment is not too severe for the crime. The students have learned
the hard way that the dissemination of news does not lend itself
to pranks.

ESCAPIST ACTIVITY

Probably the ancestors of this
generation never thought of gardening as an escapist activity,
which is the description applied
to it by a modern writer. All they
knew was that if they wanted
vegetables or flowers—usually the
former—they had to get out and
dig.

But that is an intriguing
thought, that people go in for
gardening—those who have gardens, that is—to get their minds
off problems of the day, personal
as well as national and international.

There is something soothing
about digging and planting, weed-
ing and spraying and harvesting
—activities which usually are engaged in in the hot sun—and conducive to a feeling of well being.
It is difficult to take too possimistic a view of the future when
laboring in a flower or vegetable
garden. Growing plants, the evidence of accomplishment, though
it may not hold the promise of
fulfillment of roseate anticipation,
are not conducive to feelings of
despair or frustration.

And when the day's or even-
ing's task in the garden is done,
sleep comes easily to the toiler
who probably didn't know that
he was engaged in an escapist
activity.

home on N. Pennsylvania ave. at 3:45 A. M., but "changed his mind," for a reason he did not give.

The suspect admitted the series of 29 burglaries a short time later under questioning by Chief Davis, Tomlinson, State Patrolmen Andrew Kutney and Duane Allen, of the Langhorne barracks, and two Trenton detectives, Donald Toft, Sr., and Francis Fagan.

The homes looted in Morrisville on Wednesday were those of Charles Galombus, of 315 N. Pennsylvania ave.; William M. Keyes, of 291 W. Franklin st.; Stephen Beres, of 298 Harper ave.; Harry Burns, of 337 N. Pennsylvania ave., and Harry B. Carter, of 117 Osborne ave.

According to Davis, each of the 29 burglaries was committed by forcing a kitchen window. In some cases, he added, the intruder ate food in the kitchens while the occupants of the homes were sleeping upstairs.

Trenton police said Hale, who is single, had a record dating back to 1932, when he was sentenced to six years in Trenton for several robberies. They said he was out of jail for only two years when, in 1940, he was given the 12-to-48 year term for robberies which included the theft of a number of trimmed Christmas trees from homes in Trenton.

MORRISVILLE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP OF LOWER BUCKS JUNIOR HIGH LEAGUE BY DEFEATING DELHAAS, 3 TO 1

FALLSINGTON, June 7 — Morrisville won the 1952 baseball championship of the Lower Bucks County Junior High League by winning over Delhaas Junior High, 3-1, in an extra inning game on the neutral Fallsington High field. The two teams had ended the regular season in a deadlock for first place.

Morrisville won the game by scoring twice in the eighth frame. With the bags loaded, Bob White walked Pacitto to force in Brewer with a run. On an attempted "squeeze" play, White threw out Powell at the plate. Jones' throw to first was on time but no one covered the bag, enabling Garmon to score.

AUTO BOYS HANDS FIFTH WARD A 12 TO 5 LACING

The Auto Boys nine handed the league-leading Fifth Ward Sporting Club a 12-5 lacing last evening in a Bristol Softball League tilt on Memorial field.

The Auto Boys players had their hitting caps on as they smacked out a total of 14 safe blows. Harold Pelts paced the hitting attack with a home run and three singles in four trips to the plate. Steve Clott helped along with a triple and two singles in four times up.

The Mill Streeters scored nine runs in the first two frames, sending Pete Mancini to the showers early. Mancini failed to retire a batter, the first seven players reaching base safely.

Nick Lomma was the winning twirler. He allowed four hits, one of which was a long blow between right and center by John Cordisco for an easy home run. Lomma's wildness in the third gave the Warders four runs as he passed four batters in succession and then was tapped for a hit by Joe Pica.

by revealing "the past". Mrs. John B. Force, former president and now secretary of Yardley Club, read the poem "The Ghost of Bowman's Hill", written by Miss Catherine Welsh, of Washington Crossing. As the poem unfolded the ghost (impersonated by Miss Welsh), appeared; then Capt. Kidd (William Kirkbride, of this community), and "Doc" Bowman, impersonated by John B. Force, Yardley.

The "present" as regards Bowman's Hill was presented by Norman Fisher, park botanist. He referred to the remarkable attendance this season, with a conservative estimate of 15,000 visitors in May. The types of visitors were shown in the listing of students from primary grades up through college years; Scouts, club, church and civic groups, and families.

The trips on the educational and other trails in the wild flower preserve may help many young folks to develop into amateur botanists was one point mentioned. "With some high school pupils we can start in on some technical aspects of botany. The smaller children can absorb much through the names of flowers and plants on the educational trail." That a widely-diversified flora is to be found in the preserve was mentioned — "representing all parts of Pennsylvania and many sections of the eastern seaboard."

The bird walks which are arranged were mentioned by Mr. Fisher; also the bird banding stations. "On a week-end Dr. Flood, of New Hope, will be able to keep birds in a trap for an hour or so in order that people can see details of anatomy and coloring, etc."

Practice of conservation in bird and insect life was stressed, Mr. Fisher pointing out that children should be trained not to disturb bird nests. "We hope to develop an interest even in the casual visitors so that all become conservationists. . . . We are reaching many valuable groups with the conservation idea," he added.

"If the pool on the gentian trail is approached with caution the visitor has a good chance to see huge bullfrogs, cray-fish, salamanders and the like" he advised.

The "future" of Bowman's Hill was the category assigned to Mrs. A. B. Ross, former state chairman of conservation and now co-chairman of the executive committee of the preserve. The decision to sponsor the wild flower trail was mentioned as Mrs. Ross recalled the work of the early days and the handicaps overcome. Using funds of $100 from the Council for Preservation of Natural Beauty in Penna., and adding every donation to it gleaned from the various women's clubs, the types of flowers on the trail were increased. Mrs. Ross told. All work in the early days was by W. P. A. labor, the club women supervising. "We sometimes wonder why you ever kept faith with us. Now we have a national reputation". She proceeded to tell how seeds are sent to Oslo, and plants to Edinboro. "The preserve has served as a model for other preserves. The wild flower preserve is becoming more and more a clearing house for information." That many pupils are taken to the park to study botany, was mentioned. "The preserve is rapidly becoming the museum of out-door work."

The plan developed to place information folders at entrances to the various trails was told of — "We try to make the trails intelligible without marking to the extent of marring the beauty." Mrs. Ross added that an attempt is being made to keep maintenance at a minimum. She made a plea for a sponsor group for every section of the wild flower preserve. "We need women to visit your trail at least once a month to do a little weeding. We feel we have treasures much more valuable on Bowman's Hill than the Spanish gold supposedly buried there."

Mrs. William Lynch, Davisville, president of the federation, announced the appointment of Mrs. William Loughrey, as new garden chairman. Mrs. Loughrey also succeeds Mrs. Tomb in the Bowman's Hill activity.
